

2007 Wrangler Red Lake County

History

In 1861 Lake County was created from parts of Napa and Mendocino counties and has since been well known as a farming community.

In the 1870s vineyards were planted and by the early 1900s the area was already earning its reputation for producing "The world's greatest wines." Prohibition forced an end to the Lake County wine production in 1920 when most of the vineyards were removed and replaced with walnut and pear orchards.

The comeback of the wine industry in Lake County began in the 1960s when a few growers rediscovered the area's grape growing potential and once again began planting vineyards. Today, Lake County has more than 8,800 acres of planted vineyards, a significant increase from the less than 100 acres that were planted in 1965. This area has also seen the recent establishment of several American Viticultural areas such as High Valley and Red Hills-Lake County. We are proud to say that Lake County contains many vineyards that support the California Wine Institute's Code of Sustainable farming practices.

Shannon Ridge Vineyards & Winery, on the steep mountain slopes in Lake County, uses sustainable farming practices to produce the finest mountain fruit possible. Our winemakers are impassioned to create wines that represent the best of our vineyards.

Winemaking Notes

The grapes used to produce our 2007 Shannon Ridge Lake County Wrangler Red came from the hills and slopes of ultra-premium vineyards of Lake County, California. To give it complexity, this wine was aged with French and American oak. It is a blend of red varietals married together to create a wine that best represents its vintage.
